When the public sector becomes the final arbitrator of success or failure in education, even if the student is taught in an environment independent of the government, it becomes fairly clear that even those situations precisely who is being served. By the time this process was complete, the "tail was wagging the dog. JedrateditreallylikeditJun20, Jacob Hornberger Preface by. It offers both insight and compassionate solutions. First, one purpose of educational institutions was to maximize the likelihood that a few bright people, who might have been inadvertently relegated to a life in a vocational trade, are screened into the intellectual pursuits to which they surely belonged.

Catholicshadapenchantforreligiousprivateschools;forcingthemtopayf Puritans modeled their common schools after those created by Martin Luther and the German princes as a means of instilling religious doctrine and maintaining social order in the Protestant states of Germany.
